Abstract

KINTSU is a premium skincare brand focused on repairing damaged skin and was created as a digital e-commerce store on Shopify. The brand is inspired by the Japanese idea of Kintsugi, which is the art of fixing broken pottery with gold. Instead of promoting “perfect” skin, KINTSU focuses on healing, restoration, and natural beauty. In Pakistan, many skincare brands mainly focus on prevention, but KINTSU fills an important gap by offering products for scars, skin damage, and pigmentation. This report explains the full development of the brand, including market research, brand strategy, and the creation of a custom Shopify store. The project shows how strong branding and honest storytelling can build customer trust and increase online sales in a competitive premium market.

1. Introduction

1.1 Background

The contemporary skincare industry often promotes unrealistic standards of perfection, leaving consumers with damaged or "real" skin being ignored. KINTSU was born from the need to shift this narrative toward a "repair-first" approach. By adopting the Kintsugi philosophy, we treat skin damage not as a flaw to be hidden, but as a history to be mended with care.

1.2 Objectives

- To design a premium brand identity that signals quality through minimalist aesthetics.
- To build a fully functional, mobile-optimized e-commerce store using Shopify.
- To bridge the "Trust Gap" in skincare through ingredient transparency and storytelling.

1.3 Report Structure

This report outlines the methodology used to identify market gaps, the technical tools employed for implementation, and a discussion on the strategic recommendations for future growth.

2. Methodology

The development of KINTSU followed a structured four-phase framework:

1. Research & Discovery: We performed a competitive analysis of existing Shopify-based skincare brands in Pakistan, identifying a lack of products focused specifically on barrier repair and post-damage recovery.
2. Brand Strategy: The Kintsugi philosophy was established as the brand’s core. We developed a specific visual identity and tone that feels both clinical and artisanal.
3. Store Build: We moved from theory to execution by developing a Shopify store using custom themes and Liquid sections to allow for unique brand storytelling on product pages.

4. Testing & Refinement: The final phase involved UX testing and mobile optimization to ensure fast load times and a seamless checkout experience.

3. Implementation & Tools

KINTSU utilized a "Tech-Forward" stack to ensure the brand remains scalable and professional.

Category	Tools Used	Purpose
Platform	Shopify	Core e-commerce engine for inventory and sales management.
Design	Canva/Figma	Creating wireframes, high-fidelity logos, and marketing assets.
Development	Custom Liquid	Tailoring the Shopify theme to include unique brand sections.
Payments	Shopify Payments	Enabling secure, streamlined transactions for the consumer.

4. Discussion

4.1 Strategic Recommendations

To maintain the premium positioning of KINTSU, the following strategies are recommended:

Area	Recommendation	Expected Impact
Content	Educational “Ritual” videos	Reduces the Trust Gap by showing real-time product use.
UX	Personalized skin Quizzes	Help customers find specific repair solutions for their skin type.
Loyalty	Restoration Club	Builds a community around the repair philosophy to drive repeat purchases.

4.2 Limitations

- Market Education: High-end "repair" skincare requires more consumer education compared to standard whitening or moisturizing creams.
- Logistics: Maintaining the "premium" unboxing experience during third-party delivery remains a challenge for self-managed inventory.

5. Conclusion & Future Work

5.1 Lessons Learned

The project highlighted that in e-commerce, identity-first branding is the strongest driver of conversions. We learned that minimalist design signals quality more effectively than cluttered, clinical layouts. Furthermore, Shopify proved to be a versatile tool that allows full creative control without sacrificing speed or security.

5.2 Future Enhancements

Moving forward, we plan to integrate AI-driven skin analysis tools directly into the Shopify storefront. This will allow KINTSU to provide bespoke "Repair Plans," further solidifying our position as a leader in the restorative skincare market.

About us:

About us

Inspired by the Japanese art of Kintsugi, Kintsu is built on the belief that repair is a celebration of history rather than something to hide. Rooted in the botanical heritage of Kyoto and powered by modern dermatological science, we provide the "gold" for your skin's journey—transforming signs of stress and time into a narrative of strength. We blend high-performance ingredients like ceramides and peptides with traditional restoration rituals to mend your skin barrier and unveil a glow that is resilient, intentional, and uniquely yours. At Kintsu, we don't just treat skin; we honor its history to reveal a future that is Repaired. Restored. Beauty.

Our premium Hydrogel Bio-Collagen mask is the future of skin restoration. Unlike traditional fabric masks, this transparent gel is a solid concentration of serum that reacts to your skin's temperature. As you wear it, the mask "melts" into your skin, delivering deep-tissue collagen and hydration for a plump, "glass-skin" finish.

Rs: 4500 for a pack and Rs: 1500 per mask

How to Use:

1.

Prep: Cleanse your face and apply Kintsu Face Serum.

2.

Apply: Remove the films and press the two-piece gel mask onto your face.

3.

Rest: Leave on for at least 3 hours (or overnight) until the mask turns from opaque to completely clear.

4.

Reveal: Peel off to find mended, luminous skin. No rinsing required.
